DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hodac, et al (5,775,725) in view of Enders (5,700,029).

Hodac teaches a gas bag module comprising several detent hooks 3 by which can be fastened to a component, the detent hooks being connected in one piece with the base section and projecting therefrom.

The detent hooks are flat strips, see figure 3.

The detent hooks are bent at right-angles from the base section.

The base section forms a rigid frame and before bending, the detent hooks are arranged in a recess of the frame.

The gas bag module is integrated into a cover cap.

Hodac teaches the claimed invention except for a sheet metal carrier plate.

Enders teaches a carrier plate 10. Based on the teachings of Enders, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the gas bag module of Hodac to include a carrier plate to provide a rigid connection.

The carrier plate is a punched part and the carrier plate being constructed in one piece with the module housing.

The carrier plate is constructed in one piece with a gas bag holding element.

The carrier plate is constructed in one piece with a gas generator holding element.

The gas generator is provided and the carrier plate is constructed in one piece with the gas generator.

The carrier plate is a separate component and is firmly connected with another component of the gas bag module.

The carrier plate forms a horn contact.

The cover cap has side walls projecting from a front wall and flaps arranged pivotably on the side walls are provided and the carrier plate is connected with the flaps.

With respect to the plate being sheet metal, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the carrier plate made of metal to provide strength, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice.
